

Prologue

I'm beginning this writing piece at the end of June of 2020. This happens to be the middle of the most chaotic world I've been alive for. Media has been frightening the world into submission for longer than I can recall - they probably always have been. Now should be the ending of a 'global pandemic'. People are arguing about whether a second wave will come or not but what's important is that Covid-19 completely blew the cover of global corruption and began this current world wide awakening. Currently the country south of me, the United States of America has a complete zone in a major city that is completely walled off from the rest and have instilled their own 'police force'. Interesting though, because their main demand is to abolish the police.¹ The people in charge are doing this under the disguised movement of 'Black Lives Matter'.² Because this statement is very clear to the Christian country the public opinion of this with a reasonable IQ level believes that this is an extension of a foreignly funded organization trying to break our society. Unfortunately most of the people who realize this get stuck in the rabbit holes of conspiracy theories which dominate on the basis that Jewish bankers are funding wars all around the world for their own benefit. This has developed over the years surrounding the Balfour Declaration.³ Simply stated, this was a document coming from the British government stating they support giving Palestine to the control of the Jewish people to a Rothschild. Eerily calling him 'Lord'. With the current state of the world nearly everyone seems to be plunged into a state of introspection, including myself. The problem is that no one seems capable of making a real lasting change that can positively impact the world. The media has successfully made believing in conspiracy theories a negative thing socially so most people are unwilling to explore deep. It is of my opinion that whoever currently is funding and organizing these crises world-wide is simply being manipulated by another person or people. This can be the only way everything can make sense. The best thing is that anyone can overcome the mental powers above them. This book will be my best description of how one could do this while I describe how it could be possible with history in deep consideration. Becoming a rational explanation for the accumulation of the most ridiculous and reasonable conspiracies and how they could relate to current events.

Do not fall for the new world order.
