The Great Equalization

Individuality, group identity is being robbed. Who you are today will not matter soon enough. In the social wars people do not seem to be acknowledging, but we are all being put into one category of person. Age, gender, ethnicity and culture are having less relevancy in the public world as the days go on. We are facing an erasure and changing of roles. This movement is a consistent effort to reduce us down to the lowest common denominator. A social eugenic-like movement.

Why would those involved in the power structure do this? Retention. We are not being molded into a large group of capable, self sustaining people. Rather the opposite, we are being brainwashed into no longer being capable beings. Our brains are being smushed together. They are crushing us, being an individual or creative is punished; unless you are acting in a way to disturb the current cultural norms. Forgiven because you are advancing the agenda of androdynousization.

Towards the youth they are being forced to mature. Using the enticing aspects of sex, drugs and freedom from parents. Then to the maturing ages their maturation is being delayed with the yearning for their lost childhood. We now promote video games, sports and nostalgia to those reaching their full mature age in order to prevent them from using their full potential. For those still growing we promote and normalize anything that keeps them a subservient class. By spiking their growth from childhood to adulthood, most are never fully developing. Permanently becoming children. The ones who already are fully mature adults, they are being socially forced into accepting all of our changes. If not, they will be left to die without their family close.

Largely we are being taught to discount the order of our evolution. To discount how nature has made us. Men are encouraged to be feminine all the while women are encouraged to be masculine. In this equation women are being given roles that should belong to men. The opposite applies also, the men are taking places which are meant for women. This action shatters our natural ecosystem. Problems continually pile up. Because we are outside of our natural setting we have no way to heal or self-correct our society.

The world's cultures are at the same time being washed into each other. Not only are we being forced to co-exist and adapt how our beliefs are respected, we are being given tight restrictions. A large proponent of this advancement belongs to the largely encouraged race-mixing that is taking place. Though we have learnt that interracial children for the large part do not appreciate and encapsulate both cultures. This is a false promise. We have already gone through this in the Americas. Europeans created a melting pot with a new culture that was formed here. As the Europeans mixed, they created and took on a new identity. We created new holidays. Our identity as Europeans came to wither. This is what is intended for our country, for us to lose our culture, and have the new children to adapt to the culture they are force-feeding us.

If we want to discuss the argument of the Americas being a success, what must be recognized is the current abandonment of God. Although the Europeans came, they were still largely united under similar beliefs in God and Jesus Christ. While the new world is being crafted is not directed or inspired by God, but instead by our self pride. The current atmosphere is rejecting the roots that built our countries. The ideas are axes that the new generation is using to swing at the roots of their past. It all leads to an idea that collectively we are overthrowing some dragon that is looking to swallow us whole. That our new ideas will be our spiritual nourishment. All the while we have been tricked into preparing the dragon's dinner.

The further we allow ourselves to be equalized across the board, the further we will drag ourselves from prosperity. Prospering individuality will become extinct. Unique experiences will evaporate away. Any intense emotions will not be permitted. In time greatness, beauty and strength too will pass away. All for the purpose of us to be nameless cattle. To be people with nothing to suffer for. A people with nothing to fight for. The meaningless existence awaits.
